1. Read HTML 1-3 off Lissa's site.
   http://www.lissaexplains.com/
2. Read Writing for the Web 6 Rules.doc
3. Read Writing for the Web 10 Rules for Effective.doc
4. Read Writing for the Web 17 rules.doc
   (These can be found at http://bouwsma.neocities.org)

Have the instructor give you credit for your reading.

Make a new web page about five or more of your favorite things. Use a different engine or metacrawler each time you search and put the name of the engine or crawler in with your text.

1. Make a new folder in H: for this web page.
2. Look up your favorite things on the internet. Copy pictures to your folder in H: (Be careful not to take any copyrighted material.)
3. Create an index file and four or more other pages using notepad. Keep the names of your files simple, no special characters, spaces or weird stuff.
4. Write text using the conventions discussed in class for the index page and each of the four files that describe your favorite things. Do not copy someone else's writing into your page.
5. Select background colors or pictures and text colors that are consistent throughout the site.

You will be graded on the basis of text quality, features, style, and project scale.
